PROHIBITION COMPROMISE FOR U.S. CONVENTION

Pier Island To Be Leased As Home of Most Doukhobors

Arctia Island Will Take Overflow, If Any, Ottawa Announces To-day

Arrangements For Leasing Starting at Once; Island Off Swartz Bay

Pier Island, which lies to the north of Swartz Bay at the head of the Saanich Peninsula, is to become the main penal home of the Doukhobor nudists, and Arctia Island is to take the overflow, if any.

Word from Ottawa this morning announced the switch in the plans for housing both the men and women now housed at Victoria. Yesterday afternoon the Attorney-General's Department in Victoria stated D'Arcy Island, which is owned by the province, had been set aside for the use of the Doukhobors as a penitentiary.

Arctia, however, now has decided to lease Pier Island, which is owned by Col. James Harvey.

This morning's Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa reads as follows:

"Pier Island, twenty-seven miles from Victoria, B.C., in Haro Straits, will house the Doukhobor men and women separated from nude parading. The Doukhobor men and women, who have each been sentenced for three years approximately, will be segregated. They are divided equally in number. Official announcement to this effect was made to-day."

PIER ISLAND BIGGER

"Arctia Island, mentioned in a despatch from Victoria yesterday evening as the island of incarceration, will be overcrowded, if such a condition develops. D'Arcy Island is one-half the size of Pier Island and, in addition, has the disadvantage of being closer to Victoria, the provincial capital. D'Arcy Island years ago was a leper colony."

"Pier Island is privately owned necessary arrangements for its leasing will be started immediately. It is about three-quarters of a mile wide and a mile long."

"No plans are in contemplation, as suggested by Victoria, to bring the Doukhobor women here and establish them in eastern institutions, many of which are pretty well crowded, as stated. The Doukhobor children will be in charge of the province of British Columbia."

Erection of such buildings and other accommodations as may be required will start almost immediately on Pier Island."

Pier Island is said to have plenty of arable land and water. The side facing Knapp Island, on which Col. Harvey resides, is heavily wooded.

The actual terms of the deal between the owners and the federal government were not known here to-day.

ARE TO EXTEND TRADE TREATY

Ottawa is Expected to Announce Arrangement With France Till Dec. 31

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—Canada and France were still continuing negotiations to-day for an extension of the trade pact between the two countries until December 31. With prospects favoring an extension, an official announcement was said to be possible late to-day, but more probably would be issued to-morrow.

The official understanding here is that on the notice given, the treaty will not expire until midnight to-morrow and not midnight to-night.

Certain changes in the present provisions of the pact are expected to be contained in the announcement of extension.

Paris, June 15.—French wheat importers are pressing the government to act promptly in an endeavor to reach some basis of agreement for continuing the Franco-Canadian trade treaty, which is due to expire at midnight to-night. Falling action Canadian wheat, along with other commodities from the Dominion, will be required to pay the maximum tariff.

Jean Durand, Minister of Commerce, has been negotiating with the Canadian Government in an effort to reach agreement on continuance of the trade pending revision.

The cables were kept busy to-day between Paris and Ottawa in efforts to arrange a temporary extension of the French minimum tariff to Canadian imports, and vice versa, until a new treaty has been definitely arranged.

The expiring treaty was denounced in Ottawa six months ago with a view to negotiation of a new treaty.

The French authorities are anxious to have a new trade treaty, which is due to expire at midnight to-night.

If the negotiations are unsuccessful, Canadian wheat imports after midnight will undergo a duty of just double the amount under the treaty, a total 160 francs per quintal.

The assembly is meeting in Victoria in the form of a preliminary organization conference with a view to framing proposals which will be acted upon at the Rotary International Convention scheduled to open in Seattle on Monday.

District governors from world points are attending the conference in Victoria to-day.

Ex-lampighter Startles Belgian Chamber By Firing Pistol During Session

Arrested By Chamber Guards and Turned Over to Police

Associated Press
Brussels, Belgium, June 15.—The calm of the Belgian Chamber of Deputies was suddenly broken to-day by the crack of a revolver from the strangers' gallery, aimed at the seats of the deputies. The Socialist Deputy Utroever was slightly wounded by the bullet.

A sergeant-at-arms and several assistants hurried to the gallery and arrested a man, named Vens and identified him only as a police.

The authorities said Vens' motive was personal revenge. They said he was a former lampighter who had lost his job for participating in the Flemish independence movement during the Great War. The police quoted him as saying he wanted to wound Utroever, but not to kill him.

Sports Clubs Upheld By Ruling of Court

Vancouver Institution Not Common Gaming House, Says Supreme Court of Canada

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 15.—The appeal of George Bampton of Vancouver was allowed to-day by the Supreme Court of Canada, and his conviction was set aside.

Bampton, as steward of the Brunswick Sports Club of Vancouver, was convicted of keeping a common gaming house, but the court held that he was not a "gami" but the premises were club premises not kept for gain and that club members did not "resort" to the club within the meaning of the act for the purpose of playing.

He admitted the facts on which his conviction was based, but denied they brought the club within the category described in the statute. He alleged the money derived from poker games was not a "gain" but the premises were club premises not kept for gain and that club members did not "resort" to the club within the meaning of the act for the purpose of playing.

Of the 441 students enrolled during the year, four were trained teachers from other parts of Canada who took only refresher courses, three were graduates of the University of British Columbia who took the fall session only, and transferred in January to come into the fall session in the high school teacher-training class at the institution. Nine who were repeating the course were awarded diplomas at the end of the fall session. One student discontinued attending during the year.

111 GAIN DIPLOMAS

At the close of the session on June 10, 111 were awarded diplomas. Of these, seven were given honor standing.

Four students secured first class, and three second class certificates.

G. B. MEANS IS SENT TO PRISON

Washington Judge Gives Him Fifteen Years For Larceny

Associated Press

Washington, June 15.—Gaston B. Means to-day was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment for swindling Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of $10,000 in an alleged plan to return the abducted Lindbergh baby.

Justice Edward M. Proctor in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, sentenced the former Justice Department investigator to ten years for the larceny of $100,000 ransom money and five years for larceny of the $4,000 expense money. The latter sentence is to begin after the ten-year sentence has been served.

George Wompler, one of Means' defense counsel, noted the appeal.

Justice Proctor, in addressing Means, said: "The verdict reveals the defendant capitalized not only on the sweetest and tenderest emotions of the human heart, but also on the basest in his clever and artful plan."

The Lindbergh case brought out all the best in the hearts of men, but also gave the opportunity to some to display the weakness and wickedness of human nature."

SIR D. MACLEAN,

LONDON, DIES

ENTRANCE—Last August, he entered the National Museum of Art, Brussels, as Sir Donald as President of the Board of Education at that time, and following the general election of October 7 resumed the portfolio. He was one of five National Liberals who forsook Sir Hon. David Lloyd George and entered the Conservative Government.

At the same time Sir Donald, along with Sir Archibald Sinclair, another Scottish National Liberal, made it fairly clear during the last election campaign that they still held Liberal principles dear. That did not prevent them from leaving harmoniously with his National Labor and Conservative colleagues in the Cabinets.

BORN IN SCOTLAND.

A native of the County of Argyll, Sir Donald was first elected to the Commons a quarter century ago as Liberal member for Ballymena. He was elected in Peebles and Selkirk in 1910, and from then until 1922 represented one or other of the Peebles seats. He was beaten in Kilmarnock in 1923 and in East Cardiff in 1924, but again sent to the Commons by the northern division of Cornwall in 1925, where he was re-elected as Conservative.

ALDERDICE TO VISIT OTTAWA

Expected at Empire Conference Soon After Becoming Newfoundland Premier

Plebiscite May Be Held on Commission Government For Newfoundland

St. John's, Nfld., June 15.—Two more seats were added to the opposition as far as results of the general election of last Saturday were announced to-day, and with only one seat to hear from the other, the opposition was 23, Government 2. Independent 1. The unreported constituency is White Bay.

Hon. F. C. Alderdice, leader of the Union Newfoundland Party, will have a busy programme ahead of him when he assumes office as Premier, in addition to the carrying out of his promise for an immediate reorganization of the administration of the Dominion. He will have to send a delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference opening at Ottawa on July 21. It is possible Mr. Alderdice himself will head the delegation.

The two constituencies reported overnight were Burgeo, where J. A. Winter, opposition, defeated P. G. Butler, Liberal, and Bonavista North, where the victor was Capt. William Windsor, opposed by Joseph Davis, Squires candidate.

CHANGE JUNE 27

Premier Sir Richard A. Squires, whose administration met such a crushing defeat, returned to St. John's to-day. He refused to make any comment on the election outcome, but intended he would complete his affairs in time to turn over the government to his successor on June 27.

Hon. F. C. Alderdice would not say to-day what plans he had for his cabinet, but he was expected to make an announcement on a few days.

Sir Richard Squires had been in his constituency, Trinity South, since the election, accompanied by Hon. F. G. Radley, Member of Parliament, the only member of the former government returned. The other government supporter elected was R. J. Starks, who defeated F. M. Wells in Green Bay.

GIVEN GREETING

Harold Mitchell, who defeated the Prime Minister in Trinity South, returned to St. John's yesterday and received a boisterous welcome, similar to that accorded Sir Richard when he was elected by a overwhelming majority of followers in 1928.

Lady Helena Squires, wife of the Prime Minister, also returned to St. John's from Twillingate, where she was defeated by Norman Gray.

Saturday's polling resulted in the largest number of votes cast in any election ever recorded in a Newfoundland election, it was stated by political observers here. The opposition candidates polled 70 per cent of the entire vote. Twelve government and two independent candidates lost their deposits.

According to pre-election promises, Mr. Alderdice's victory is a mandate for a plebiscite on the question of what form of government shall be adopted, while Newfoundland is seeking to re-establish its credit abroad.

Concluding a manifesto in which he promised to cope with unemployment and other social and educational problems, Mr. Alderdice said:

"Let me repeat the pledge recently made through the daily press that one of the first acts will be the appointment of a committee, the members of which will serve without remuneration, to inquire into the feasibility and desirability of placing the country under a form of commission government for a period of years. In case the proposal is favorably reported on, it will then be submitted to the electorate for their approval. No action will be taken until it does not first have the consent of the people."

Mr. Alderdice, who is leader of the Conservative opposition in the last Legislature, was born at Belfast, Ireland, sixty years ago. He is a director of several Newfoundland and Canadian companies. He has been prominent in Newfoundland politics for many years.

Mr. Donald started his career as a solicitor, and he was a good one. In 1916 he was made chairman of the London Appeal Tribunal, and he was a member of the Military Service Act, and he acted on several important government committees of the House, and from 1919 to 1922 was chairman of the Parliamentary Liberal Party.

Mr. Donald married in 1907, Gwendolyn Market Devitt of Sussex, and there are four sons and a daughter. He was knighted in 1917 for his services on the appeal tribunal.

Mr. S. H. Sinnett spoke of the determination of the National Councils to keep aloof from the system of campaign funds from interests dealing with the government, which system, he declared, had brought about the utter moral ruin of the Liberal party. He declared the present party interested above all in maintaining and perpetuating their own organisation and failed to grasp the new needs of the country. He said the present-day politicians were living in the past and were incapable of dealing with the new world.

NEWSPARTES NAMED

The names of the political parties that have come away from the old political parties to build up a permanent betterment in B.C. are as follows: National Councils of Canada, Government Reform Party, Federal Pacific National Party, People's Party, Bowring Independent Conservatives, Dr. Clem Davies, Christian Temple Party now in course of formation, United Front Party, comprising elements of Radical organizations and Labor Party and the Anti-Thousand Dollar Club Party.

Discussion of the meeting indicated that the following were prominently mentioned as possible candidates for the National Councils: S. S. Macfarlane, former Conservative official; Esquimalt, Capt. R. P. Matheson; Victoria City, Ex-Mayor Morley, T. Guy Sheppard, Dr. Clem Davies, Mr. Sinnett, Mr. Lovett and G. B. Yearwood.

PREMIER IN CHAIR

President P. A. Alderdice, of the British Sovereign and Magician varieties, and in the finest possible condition, was the low but well-maintained object of local gluts at prairie centres, cut below the demand by the heat. As a result Winnipegs have found it necessary to import a car of strawberries from the warmer Oregon despite the high tariff barrier now protecting.

The Coast crop has been delayed by the late season until the proposal to ship extensively to Toronto and Montreal has become impracticable. Nevertheless one of the cars of fruit will be sent this year from the mainland to warmer points as a test of the ability of the fruit to stand the journey.

CREDENTIALS SETTLED

Chicago, June 15.—Bringing its troubles into the camp one by one, the Republican National Convention disposed of the last of its credentials yesterday while the quarrel over prohibition continued unabated behind closed doors, and the question of a voting mandate for President Hoover remained as ever from solution.

As it assembled for its second session the convention left behind in hotel conference rooms a large and weary battalion of its delegates.

Some had struggled through the night to settle long-pending controversies over local party leadership in several southern states. Some had been in confused with little to show for it, the vice-presidency.

The platform committee, with the difficulty of reporting a prohibition

since early yesterday evening, listening to the militant pleas of wets and drys at public hearings and to the disagreements of its own members party doctrine.

Before a subcommittee retired to begin writing the platform, there was the usual spectacle of members of the the floor of the convention, as the two committees worked out their platforms.

BIGGER CROPS SEEN FOR WEST

By the Canadian Press
 Ottawa, June 15.—There is rather wide variance in crop conditions throughout Canada, but in the western provinces, crops look much more promising and are much improved over 1931, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Crops throughout Alberta promise particularly high yields. The general soil moisture situation is quite satisfactory at present, but June and July rains must be relied on to offset the deficit resulting from three years of drought.

In British Columbia, temperatures have been high and little rain has fallen recently so that, while present prospects are good, rain will be needed. Strawberries and early cherries are now being shipped and are excellent crops.

The spring season was very backward in the Maritime and growth has been much slower than usual. Potato acreage is reduced and the area in grain is less than in 1931.

Over most of Quebec and in Eastern and Northern Ontario the season is very backward. In the southern and central counties of Ontario the yield outlook is more promising.

McRae Advocates New Migration

Winnipeg, June 15.—Migration of large numbers of British people to western Canada, linked with a Canadian back-to-the-land movement, was suggested in an interview here yesterday by Senator A. D. McRae Conservative, Vancouver, as a possible outcome of the Imperial Economic Conference. He urged serious consideration be given it as a means of solving the economic problems of the provincial government at Regina soon.

Western Canada, said the Senator, was vitally interested in the securing of preferential entry to the British market for grain, beef and pork. If such benefits were to be obtained some return should be made by Canada. He could think of no better way than by giving the immigrants an opportunity to share in the production of Canada's farm products.

TEN MILLION VOLTS ACHIEVED

Greatest Electrical Pressure Ever Attained By Man Reported From Pittsfield

Pittsfield, June 15.—Ten million volts of electricity, five million greater than ever before produced by man in electrical laboratory experiments, and approximately one-tenth the voltage of a flash of lightning, was created here in the high voltage laboratory of the General Electric Company. F. W. Peek Jr., chief engineer, announced.

This enormous voltage, which is capable of producing an arc of sixty feet, was made possible by a new 50,000,000 kilowatt generator, Mr. Peek explained. The exact characteristics of the 10,000,000-volt discharge are still unknown, as it was but two days ago that this high voltage was attained for the first time. Likewise, the fields in which the new high voltage will be used, experiments on which will yet be determined, but it will be used in the continued research being conducted by electrical engineers in the study of natural lightning, its effects on electrical generating and transmission apparatus, and of protecting such apparatus from damage by lightning. With the increased voltage now available in the laboratory, it becomes possible for the engineers to approximate more closely the effects of natural lightning, he said.

Whether or not this high voltage will produce a chain reaction in the atom, as scientists have predicted, Mr. Peek said that only time will tell. "It may be possible to do these things," he said. "We haven't had time to investigate yet."

A laboratory demonstration of this 10,000,000-volt arc-like lightning was broadcast from the G.S. laboratory by WGY of Schenectady and the NBC WEAF net work. The day happened to be the 180th anniversary of Franklin's kite experiment and this programme was in commemoration of that epochal event.

While the limit of voltage directly produced by man has now been increased to 10,000,000 volts, the voltage indirectly produced as a result of reflection is a doubling of the 10,000,000-volt impulse at the ends of a transmission line, according to Mr. Peek. In this reflection the voltage is like a water-wave, which upon striking a wall doubles upon reflection.

Mr. Peek said that natural lightning is of the order of 100,000,000 volts (10 times that of laboratory lightning), 200,000 amperes, and that the discharge occurs in a millionths of a second.

"Mystery of lightning problems has been removed from the realm of the 'medicine man,'" Mr. Peek said. "While there is still much to learn, lightning may be said to be now at least on an engineering basis, since it is expressed numerically in volts and amperes."

EXAMINED AT OAKALLA

Called by the prosecution, Dr. J. G. McKay of Vancouver, alienist, testified to several examinations of the accused, Murdoch, at the Oshawa, which convinced him that Murdoch, at the time of the alleged murder, was in full knowledge of the nature and effects of his actions.

Dr. McKay, qualified his evidence, however, by stating that since hearing evidence submitted at the assizes, relative to Murdoch's belief that he was being persecuted, he was of the opinion the accused was not wholly sane at the time of the Kelowna tragedy.

IT IS NOW POSSIBLE to design transmission lines free from lightning troubles or interruptions, as well as lightning-proof transformers and other electrical apparatus," Mr. Peek said. "We have also taught us how to build efficient protective devices to guard other electrical apparatus from lightning.

The following indicate how rapid the progress has been: the wave shape of lightning has been pictured by the cathode ray oscillograph, or high-speed camera; the time required for a cloud to discharge has been measured by the same oscillograph; the attenuation of lightning wave traveling on a transmission line has been determined; natural lightning waves have been reproduced in the laboratory, where their effects on transmission lines, insulation, insulators and transformers and protective apparatus have been studied and discussed.

It is now possible to design transmission lines free from lightning troubles or interruptions, as well as lightning-proof transformers and other electrical apparatus," Mr. Peek said. "We have also taught us how to build efficient protective devices to guard other electrical apparatus from lightning.

Ottawa, June 15.—Lancashire cotton representatives yesterday laid their views before the government in connection with the Imperial Economic Conference, to open in Ottawa, June 21. Beyond the statement that a reciprocal understanding had been reached, there was no official announcement afterward.

Called by G. H. Gray, the delegation interviewed Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner to Canada, during the luncheon hour. Later in the afternoon representatives of the British cotton industries saw Premier Bennett.

CADET CORPS IN CALGARY ENDED

Canadian Press

Calgary, June 15.—Cadet training in Calgary public and high schools will be abolished at the summer holidays.

After years of consideration, the school board has decided to substitute physical exercises for cadet training, and will not accept the Dominion Government's proposal that the cadet corps be maintained by September 1. The resolution, passed yesterday evening, was presented by the school management committee.

The board decided also to submit a referendum to the citizens to decide the fate of grade 12 in the schools. It has been proposed the class be eliminated. Voting will be held June 29.

Saanich Asked For Thirty-year Franchise; Councillors Agree "Very Fair"

Is Mains Extension to Cost $20,000; City Prices to Prevail

Extension of gas mains into Saanich, as proposed under the terms of a contract prepared by the Victoria Gas Company Limited, was warmly approved yesterday evening by all members of the Saanich Council, sitting in special session as committee of works. The contract was referred to the municipal solicitors for report.

The expenditure in Saanich will be least $20,000 within two years from the date the contract is signed. Gas is to be sold in Saanich at prices and terms identical with those effective in Victoria. The company asks a franchise of thirty years' duration—but specifically does not seek to prevent the municipal council from giving similar privileges to any other concern at later date.

BY ACQUIRE SYSTEM

PROVISIONS are included for expounding the franchise by the Saanich Council at the termination of the term, upon the municipality giving at least one year's notice, the price to be fixed by arbitration if the parties cannot otherwise agree at an agreement as to the value of the properties usually employed. Should the right of arbitration not be exercised at that time, it may again be exercised at the conclusion of each ten-year period thereafter.

The agreement provides that the Victoria Gas Company may only lay mains on streets approved by the municipal government and shall restore the surface of all open streets to the condition previously existing. Maintenance of a broken surface shall be the expense of the company for two years. The company agrees not to cease service during the currency of the agreement.

Councillors agreed that the agreement was "very fair," and Reeve Crouch and the council of the Bay and Esquimalt were expected to take action at once on similar agreements.

SAANICH WORK TO BE RESUMED

Road Maintenance Costing $12,000 Authorized; Deficit Estimated at $20,000

Expenditure of approximately $12,000 on road maintenance, to provide work for men on direct relief, will be undertaken by the Saanich Council. Sitting in works committee yesterday evening the council approved proposals outlined by the municipal engineer, whereby 300 men will be given relief employment, in shifts of about ninety men, covering the remainder of this year. The programme will be limited to maintenance of roads and will be divided among all the seven wards on a basis of $1,700 each.

The position of the municipality will be reviewed at the end of October, when the annual tax collection will be complete and the probable extent of the deficit will be known.

DEFICIT OF $20,000

On the basis approved, the council estimated that a deficit of $20,000 would be created, provided estimates of tax collections and government grants were correct. It was recalled that the year opened with a deficit of $30,000 from last year, all of which had been liquidated.

Councillors commented that to date Saanich had balanced accounts but had no funds on hand for road maintenance or for continuance of direct relief.

It was asserted that even if the municipality found the inherited deficit of $30,000 had been again incurred, the year would have to be regarded as successfully handled, as such an outcome could not be due to expenditures. Such an situation, if it should develop, would be due to failure of taxpayers to meet their accounts to curtailment of income from liquor profits, pari-mutuel taxes and motor vehicle licences, or possibly to shrinkage of all income sources combined.

Most members of the council agreed that good prospects exist for last year's excellent percentages of tax collections being attained this year.

SAANICH VOTERS LOSE FRANCHISE

Only Sixty Per Cent of Residents Eligible on Voters' List

J. G. Dobbs Announces 6,050 Voters Enrolled on 10,000 Believed Qualified

Only about 60 per cent of the residents of Saanich who are eligible for the provincial franchise are now on the voter list. The enrollment is substantially greater than the list on which the last provincial election was contested, according to J. G. Dobbs, provincial registrar of voters for Saanich.

There are now 6,050 voters enrolled in Saanich, compared with the total of 5,800 names on the list in 1928. Mr. Dobbs believes that the large number of new residents in Saanich offers a fruitful field for additions to the voters' list. He is of opinion that many residents of long standing could be added to the voters' list.

"There is a list of around 10,000 names could be compiled in Saanich if a strong campaign were undertaken for enrollment," Mr. Dobbs stated this morning. He explained that the procedure was simple, there being a large number of voting commissioners scattered throughout the municipality.

In addition there are available to persons desiring the franchise the services of all public officials, including the reeve, councillors, police officers, postmasters and magistrates, all of whom are authorized to administer the necessary affidavits. The voters' list is now revised monthly instead of once a year, the registrar points out.

SEEK ROBBERS IN ESQUIMALT

Pan Loot Gorge Vale Golf Club; Police Working on Clues

Esquimalt police were working to-day on clues which they expected to lead to the arrest of the person or persons who broke into the Gorge Vale Golf Club early Tuesday morning and stole golf clubs valued at $75 and other merchandise.

According to the Esquimalt police the burglars gained entrance to the clubhouse by jimmying one of the windows. They stole a set of clubs from the professionals' room and took cigarettes, tobacco, soda water and other goods from the general office.

It was the second time in a few days the club had been entered. On a previous occasion two men were frightened from the premises by the timely arrival of the police.

Ugly Cactus Becomes Flower of Beauty With Proper Care

TO THE AVERAGE flower gardener, cactus plants are nothing but ugly, spiny looking leaves. But to Mrs. August Gruenbauer, of Grand Rapids, they are plants of beauty.

She should know, for in her garden and home here she has numerous varieties of this plant to care for.

Probably the reason Mrs. Gruenbauer does not grow cactus plants is because she has so many of the flowering types.

"The ordinary cactus grower seldom cultivates one of the flowering beauties," she says, "and thus does not appreciate the rare color and fragrance of these flowers. But there are several of the blooming type which produce flowers that are rivaled by none in color and scent."

Her plants are gathered from far and wide. Friends, traveling in foreign countries, have sent her plants from the Sahara desert, and all these ugly-looking little fellows are enjoying their life away from home without the slightest touch of homesickness, because of the care they get.

DON'T STARVE THEM

"Give the cactus plants something to eat," is Mrs. Gruenbauer's advice. "A cactus must not be soaked all the time, but, on the other hand, it must not be left to starve forever in the sun without any preparation."

Mrs. Gruenbauer has a night-blooming cereus that is the pride of her collection and of the neighborhood. She has had the plant five years and, under her care, it bore twenty blossoms last year, which is unusual for this plant.

FLOWERING BEAUTIES

Another of her flowering plants is the Pelly cactus or Arabian Torch. It is one of the few plants that thrive best under cultivation, is free-blooming and showy. It bears beautiful crimson blossoms which, strange to say, grow on short stems that come out of the leaves.

The "Crown of Thorns" is another flowering plant. It has tiny, fiery red flowers resembling drops of blood. The Christmas, or Crab cactus, in its blossoming season, loads itself with pink flowers.

One of the oddest in Mrs. Gruenbauer's collection is a cactus plant that grows a stem which may be, and often is, used as a walking cane.

Breakfast Nook Becomes a Playroom

By JULIA BLANSHARD

THE VOGUE these days is to have a play room where the family or guests can be put into a gay mood by the mere atmosphere of the place.

If space limits you, or if you are limited financially, why not fix up part of your house or apartment so it can two-time for an amusement room?

The breakfast alcove is ideal for this purpose. It is cozy, usually, to begin with, and it already has a table and four or six chairs. Moreover, it usually runs to color, which is an asset in a room for people in a gay mood.

There are certain things you should add and certain things you should eliminate, if you want to make a 100 per cent successful play room of your dining nook.

KEEP DISHES OUT OF SIGHT

First, eliminate all suggestions of dishes in cupboards, which spell dining. Next, don't have nondescript walls. There are new wall papers that give the effect of grained woods that are splendid for a background. Or you can paint the walls in some modernistic and colorful design.

There are many types of tables and chairs that serve perfectly for the game room. Modernistic metal ones, with glass chintz or gay leather cushions, are fine. But if you happen to have a preference for plain things, a nest set in simple maple, with caned seats, is lovely. Make fancy cushions of printed calico or chintz, and match up the color if not the design of the windows.

You should have a nice lighting effect in your play room. Plenty of light, incidentally, for it is no fun to have to pore over your card hand to see what's what or, unable to see clearly, to find yourself playing a diamond instead of a heart.

One very successful breakfast alcove uses the maple furniture mentioned above. It has detachable cushions of printed-blue-green calico, in small design. At the window are window-sill length drapes of a smart chintz, in eggplant and the same blue-green as the chairs, with some cream to contrast.

DECORATIVE TOUCHES

The window is one of the nicest things about this nook. Small shelves of glass are hung across it, and on these shelves are some attractive old things are placed to advantage. There are colored glasses, pottery jugs, an antique vinegar cruet, a lovely wine jug of clear blue glass, and some other gadgets.

The light is a copy of an old ship's lamp and it holds a very powerful globe so that the room seems light as day. Just a touch of flowers in one corner, on an old-fashioned little corner shelf, gives a freshness to the room that is appealing. When the game is over and guests gone, remove the bridge cover, place a little pewter bowl with fruit on the table, and add a couple of pewter candlesticks. Your breakfast nook is again its own self, completely forgetful of the good time you have just had playing in it.

"Oldest Court in World" Settles Variety of Disputes

By PAUL HARRISON

THE COURTROOM is crowded with a strange assortment of humanity—long-bearded men in skull-caps, hand-some young women in furs, a few prettily merchant princesses, tattered peasant vendors, young men, bent old women with heads covered by shawls.

Three judges occupy the bench. A young cleric begins to drone through a sheaf of records: "Morris Blum against Abraham Einhorn; Louis Saperstein against Max Pruzansky; Mrs. Rebecca Epstein against Jacob Klotz; Joseph Klotz, Isaac Klotz..."

The world's oldest court is in session. They call it, in New York's East Side, the Jewish Conciliation Court of America, but it really is a continuation of the ancient communal institution of the race. To it come many of New York's Jewry, particularly the people of the squalid East Side, seeking just settlement of their religious, business and domestic disputes.

Here, without cost, red tape or lawyers, they may stand before the judges and pour out their grievances in their own way, and in either English or Yiddish.

Before a case is heard the disputants sign an agreement to abide by the judge's decision. This has the power of a contract enforceable at common law, and is specifically reinforced by the state arbitration act.

Many of the cases involve details of Jewish religious customs which a non-Jewish judge or jury could neither understand or appreciate. Some differences involve simple matters of pride of no standing in a regular court.

HOW IT WORKS. For instance, here comes a wrinkled little woman of seventy-six, a relic of the Old World. She is shamed to admit that she is not receiving sufficient support from her son, who not only is prosperous but who refuses to attend this hearing.

The court assigns an investigator to look into the woman's affairs. If the mother's story is verified, he will be ordered to pay. Should he refuse (and only about one in a thousand wilfully ignores such an order), he will be arrested and the mother's case handled in a regular court of Louis Richman, lawyer and executive secretary of the organization.

Richman was one of the organizers of the Conciliation Court twelve years ago, and has served it continuously, without pay, ever since. He has handled more than 6,000 cases, attends every session, and figures he has effected hundreds of reconciliations and settlements by private arbitration.

"It's a highly successful service," he declared, "not only for the people concerned, but for the congested city and state courts. Incidentally, the regular court often refers cases to us for settlement."

"We're becoming national in scope, too. Jewish communities in Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland have asked for help in establishing similar organizations. New Haven, Conn., and Toronto, Canada, already have them."

SOCIETY LEADER OPENS MINIATURE VILLAGE MARKET

BY LADY MAYFAIR. London—Hidden away behind a yellow-painted door in a garage between Knightsbridge and Brompton, I discovered a perfect old English village street the other day.

On one side was a row of houses with flowers in the window boxes, and here and there a black cat sat on the steps before the front door; on the other, rows of miniature stalls kept by such personages as "Mr. Jug" and "Mr. Cuttle."

As I walked down the street, I met Lady Verney, the society leader, who "invented" the market. We visited the stalls together—first the top stall stocked with pots and pans and tea sets and ornaments, and all that the youthful housekeeper may require to equip and furnish her doll's house. Then the grocer, furnished with sacks of real flour, with tiny packets of real cereals for the nursery breakfast and small cartons of Chiver's jelly for the doll's tea party.

There were crates of ducklings and chickens, all kinds of fruit and vegetables—some made of marzipan, some of soap. The bananas were fireworks, the walnuts opened to reveal a midget top, and as for the cucumbers, Lady Verney told me that they were squeakers; but I didn't try them! Yet another stall was stocked with fish—not the unpleasant smelly kind found in grown-up fish stalls, but lovely chocolate ones. You can take your choice. There are cod or mackerel or herrings, or even, if you prefer it, sardines all packed tightly in a tin.

When we came to the tobacco kiosk, Lady Verney confessed to me that she had sold a number of "light" cigarettes to girls on their way from school—after telling them how they could play tricks upon their mothers and not be caught with them! She also showed me a rubber ball which has already become very popular among the boys, to whom she has explained how they can use them to fire paper pellets in the classroom without detection.

THE "BARGAIN BASEMENT" to suit Lady Verney's "bargain basement"! Incidentally, is upstairs. Ranged on shelves, she has every conceivable kind of toy, varying in price from 1d to 1s.

Up there, too, is the children's library where books suitable for all ages from four to sixteen are to be found on the well-filled shelves. For an annual subscription boys and girls of all ages can have the books they want. If they live in the country, or even abroad, the books can be posted to them, and Lady Verney told me that she is hoping to arrange to post parcels of books regularly to far-off parts.

UNION HONORS THREE PASTORS

United Presbytery Bids Farewell to Ministers Who Have Served Local Churches

Three United Church ministers: Rev. W. A. Guy, Oak Bay; Rev. O. M. Sanford, Victoria West, and Rev. Hugh Nixon, Fairfields, were tendered farewells yesterday by the Social Union of the United Church. The Presbytery meeting, gathering took place at the Japanese Teahouse at the Gorge, with Rev. J. Robson as chairman. It was the final meeting of the current pastoral year.

Rev. Mr. Guy expressed regret that he was leaving Victoria, coupled with appreciation of the warm shown him during his six years' residence here.

Rev. Mr. Sanford stated that his stay in Victoria had provided many pleasant contacts and memories.

Rev. Mr. Nixon said he had decided to continue his residence in Victoria, as he had been unable to find suitable temporary and due to ill-health. He hoped to resume his work next year.

Rev. J. K. Unsworth reviewed the careers of the three guests of honor, and also delivered the prayer which opened the proceedings.

Supper was served by a committee convened by Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. T. S. Sounby.

Miss MacMurchy W.M.S. President

Toronto, June 15.—Miss Beasie MacMurchy, Toronto, was elected president of the Women's Missionary Society, western division, of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Miss MacMurchy was chosen at an executive meeting here to succeed Mrs. Daniel Strachan.

CONVENTION PLANS READY

Big Programme For Canadian Business Women's Gathering at Coast

Miss Mary McGeachy of Geneva to Speak at Banquet Here

Victoria and Vancouver Business and Professional Women's Clubs have practically completed their arrangements for the annual convention of the Canadian Federation, which is to be held in the two cities from July 13 to 17. Delegates are expected from many cities throughout the Dominion. A special car is leaving Montreal and will pick up delegates and visitors en route.

The hotel registration will open in Vancouver on Wednesday evening, July 13, with a formal welcome to delegates and guests in the Oval Room, Hotel Vancouver. July 14, a breakfast in Stanley Park has been planned, also a B.C. luncheon given by B.C. manufacturers, and dinner at the Chateau on Grouse Mountain. For Friday, July 15, a civic luncheon has been planned, and a banquet at the Vancouver Hotel.

LOCAL PROGRAMME

The delegates and visitors will spend Saturday and Sunday, July 16 and 17, in Victoria. On the Saturday evening a banquet will be held under the auspices of the International Relations Committee of the Canadian Federation, Margaret Clay presiding. Miss Mary McGeachy of the staff of the League of Nations, Geneva, will be the speaker of the evening. Miss McGeachy will also address a public meeting in Vancouver during the convention.

It is hoped that the delegates will be able to journey from Vancouver to Victoria on the Empress of Russia, which will be bound for Hongkong at that time.

Plans for the Sunday here will include a visit to the lovely gardens at "Bentenwood," at the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart. The luncheon will be given at the Empress Hotel, and tea in the gardens of "Windyhaugh," Fairfield Road, with Mrs. J. H. Gillespie as the hostess.

Kingston Street Club Will Hold Cabaret Dance

As a grand finale to the City Clay Court championships, the Kingston Street Lawn Tennis Club will hold a dance at the Hotel Victoria on the evening of Friday, July 24, and the social functions of the season.

Kingston Street Club has acquired an enviable reputation through its dances in former years, and this cabaret bids fair to eclipse the success of its predecessor. The dance will be conducted, headed by Ross Hocking, the president, and when we admit colic, usually a poor feeding, usually overfeeding. What most mothers call colic is really just hunger. Especially is this true when the baby suffers it for many long months.

REINLESS

Here is a case that is not easy to please, because of the limited information furnished. The mother writes: "My baby was eight months old this month and weighs eighteen pounds. She has suffered with colic since she was three weeks old. We gave her colic medicine for four months. She has never slept lightly, very little during the day and night.

"Now at eight months she is still that way. Every little noise wakes her. She jerks, is restless, rolls from side to side and cries out in her sleep. She is worse if I feed her cereals. I give her three tablespoons a day of very thin soups of millet, far of rice and one tablespoon of sugar. This goes into six bottles, but she rarely takes that much. I have tried more milk and less milk. I give her orange juice once daily and some milk of magnesia in each bottle as she is constipated. I have tried to feed her colic, it is time she outgrew it. I think also that she needs more solid foods.

LIMITED DIET

It seems hardly credible that after eight months your baby would not be able to digest the limited diet she now receives. Of course, you did not tell me anything about the type of milk you are using. Both the milks you use, rich milk would offer greater burdens to the digestion than an ordinary pasteurized or boiled milk. The addition of a proper amount of sugar would do away with the necessity for the large amount of perhaps too much gas pains are quite to be expected when the diet is given daily. At any rate, those are the first two suggestions made.

Use a milk not too rich in cream and boil it for three minutes. Use thirty ounces of milk, ten of water, and four and one-half level tablespoons of sugar. Put the formula into five bottles.

At 6 a.m. give the formula; 9 a.m. orange juice; 10 a.m. one to three tablespoons of cereal, with some milk over it and the rest to drink. At 2 p.m. offer sieved vegetables, beginning with one teaspoonful and increasing gradually up to two to four tablespoons. Six p.m. same meal as at 10 a.m. One night feeding if baby wakes for it.

ESTABLISH SCHEDULE

Do not take baby away from home until you have her established on a regular schedule. Give her a bath, nap after the 10 a.m. bath and feeding. Manage a sunbath daily. I have a leaflet on how to accomplish this without burning the baby. You may have the leaflet on "How to Administer a Summer Sunbath." If you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the "Young Baby and Mother" of this newspaper, ask for the leaflet "Feeding from Two to Twelve Months."

If the feedings are right and the intervals long enough to insure good digestion, there is no reason at all why baby should have colic. Wipe the word out of your vocabulary.

Daughters of St. George—The regular meeting of Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238 will be held at 724 Fort Street on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are asked to attend as important business will be discussed. A home-cooking stall will be held Saturday morning at Spencer's basement. Members not being able to attend Saturday morning are kindly asked to bring donations to the meeting on Friday evening. Drill team will meet at 7:30 o'clock.

WIRELESS-HAIRED TERRIER, MAYBE

Letters Of Mimi

Surf Bathing, Likewise Other Bathing a Pure Joy; Drive in the Country to Appreciate the Bounties of Nature; and a Country Walk in the Evening a Pleasurable Experience.

Dear Marje:—For pure unalloyed joy what sport is the equal of bathing, particularly sea bathing? Did you ever notice Marje that the enjoyment a group of bathers get compared with people taking part in other forms of recreation? If you did you would agree with me.

The human race seems to have aquatic instincts—from babies to grandfathers.

RABY AND GRANDFATHER

And no conjecture can be made as to who enjoys it most—the baby gurgling delightedly at the water's edge or grandfather indulging in whoops and dives, and behaving more or less like a porpoise. For the time being both forget grandfathers and babies, and both emerge at the end of their dip at least temporarily exhilarated—not to mention the lasting benefits that derive from regular bathing.

Swimming days are here in Victoria, and this city is singularly blessed with lovely beaches and lakes, the beach being the most popular destination for most of us. A friend who lives on the Marine Drive takes a dip before breakfast every morning. It is, she says, the best tonic a person can take.

While I give first place to surf bathing, as a joy producer, the delight to be got from bathing in a hose stream is of no small matter.

TAN CURE

The other day I passed a group of children in bathing suits dashing in and out of a hose stream, not an unusual sight, but what struck me as being something of an innovation were the bath towels spread along the pavement, there for the purpose of lying on, preparatory to acquiring a tan. I have never seen a more effective tan.

Children always love a picnic, but too often the aftermath is an unpleasant memory. Let the mothers shun this particular folly.

Mother (Not Fathers) Know How a Bride May Be Easily Kept in Good Spirits — She Wants To Be Partner, Playmate and Sweetheart Permanently—Then She Will Be a Successful Wife

WHEN a young couple are about to be married it is always the mother who counsels the girl about how to manage her husband, and the father who likes his son aside and hands him a few tips about how to get along with his wife. This is a mistake. The advice comes from the wrong parties. It is the father who should advise his daughter about the best way to handle her husband and the mother who should whisper to her son the magic formula for making his wife eat out of his hand.

For only a man knows how a husband wants a wife to treat him, and that a wife should do and leave undone to keep him in love with her and lead him to marry her. And only a woman knows what qualities in a man make him a good husband and cause her to spend her life on her knees ranking him for having bestowed upon her as a blessing beyond all deserts.

Acting upon this theory a woman, speaking out of her own experience, said to her son:

"My boy, you are going to be married, and I know that you intend to be a good husband and to make your wife happy. Most men enter marriage with the same altruistic ideals. Probably not a man in a billion marries a girl with the malevolent design of breaking her heart and wrecking her life and turning the world into cinders, ashes and dust for her."

"Yet many men do this, as witness not only the number of divorces, but the girls that we know that two or three years of marriage have turned you gay, light-hearted flappers into sad-faced, broken-spirited women. And the tragedy of it is that it is often the husbands' blunders than their faults that have brought about this sad state of affairs. They have sinned ignorantly just because they did not know what it is that women ask of marriage, nor what to do to keep a woman happy in it."

"It is in order that you may avoid making these mistakes that I am asking you to hearken to your mother's voice and be guided by her. The first thing I want to impress on your mind is that if you will take care of the little things in marriage, the big things will look after themselves. Women set an inordinate value on trifles and they put more stress on words than deeds."

"When a woman speaks of a good husband she does not mean a man who is faithful and industrious and who provides his wife with an unlimited large account and a fine house and rare pearls. She means a man who will sit out his wife's chair for her at the table, who sends her roses and candy, who never forgets an anniversary, and who compliments her on the new way he is doing his hair. If you want to keep your wife blind to your faults all you have to do is to kiss her on the eyes, and as long as you take any interest in holding her hand she will work it to the bone for you. The happy wives are not those who have the best husbands. They are those lucky women who have the best love-makers."

"Then, when you marry, remember that you are asking a girl to give up many dates for one, and a blind date at that. She has been accustomed to the attentions and the flattery and the love-making of a host of admirers who were all eager to show her a good time. Let her down easily. Substitute for the balance as well as you can. Take her romance from her gradually. Do not act as if you thought that being married to her was all the pleasure and excitement that any female could crave."

"Do not drop all of your love-making at the altar with a suddenness that will jar your bride's sweet tooth loose. On the contrary, woo her more seductively than you did when you were courting her and make her feel that a husband lover is worth a dozen of the common or garden variety. The first two years will settle whether you will have a peevish and fretful wife on your hands, the balance of your life, or a happy and contented one, and it all depends on how well you sell yourself to her and whether you make her feel that marriage is worth what it cost her."

"Then try to develop her into the sort of wife you want. Most brides are putty in their husbands' hands, and if men would take as much trouble and use as much patience in training them as they do in training their office girls, we should not have so many gentlemen beating upon their breasts and bemoaning their fate in being married to women who are poor housekeepers, or a drag on them, or who do not understand them."

"If you want your wife to be a good housekeeper, praise her cooking, talk over menus with her. Take a real heart interest in everything around her home. If you want her to be a thrifty manager, discuss household with her. Help her manage her budget. Show her how to save. Tell her what wonder she is when she cuts down expenses."

"If you want her to be a companion, read with her. Discuss the subjects you are interested in with her. Keep her jacked up mentally. Make her feel that she is an active factor in helping you to succeed. Make her your playmate."

"There are mighty few women who do not try to live up to their husbands' ideals of them and when a woman slumps and becomes nothing, it is nearly always because her husband expects nothing of her."

"Do not fall into the foolish idea that the way to be a good husband is to keep your wife in idle luxury. See to it that she has plenty of work to do, good, hard, constructive work. That will keep her happy and interested and out of mischief. Be fair and generous to her in money matters and give her an allowance of her own that she does not have to account to you for."

"And, most of all, son, be tender to her. Every woman's heart's desire is to keep her wife in idle luxury. See to it that she has plenty of work to do, good, hard, constructive work. That will keep her happy and interested and out of mischief. Be fair and generous to her in money matters and give her an allowance of her own that she does not have to account to you for."

Indian Legends

III—THE FIRST VIOLET

Indians of former days knew little about science. They saw the sun in the sky but they did not realize its great size. They saw stars at night but could do nothing better than guess their distance from the earth.

The young chief was the leader of a war party. Victory was won; but, during the journey, the chief beheld a maiden with whom he fell in love. He wanted to take her to his wigwam, but she was a daughter of the enemy tribe.

Days passed, and the young chief was sad. He decided that he could no longer be away from his love, and he went to the forest near her home.

The maiden did not know that he was in the forest, but she wandered there. The hostile Indian ran to her, seized her in his arms and started to carry her away.

The chief was observed by a member of the enemy tribe, but he was not brave enough to try alone to save the maiden. He ran to the village and told the others.

A party of warriors started in pursuit.

In the morning the young chief and the maiden were overtaken. To the surprise of the pursuers, the maiden had not given up her hair and had come. She had braided her hair and tied the braids around the neck of the man who had captured her. This was a sign that she wished to marry him.

The warriors were filled with rage. Among their tales was one about the first violet, and it ran like this:

"Because they knew so little, the men made up stories to explain the things. Among their tales was one about the first violet, and it ran like this:

The blood of the unhappy pair soaked into the ground. Then a wonderful event took place. A beautiful flower sprang up in the spot—the first violet! The violet came as a sign of true love, and its seeds were spread far over the earth.

That Old Fashioned Virtue Called "Honesty"

There is one quality which the good funeral director should possess above all others—and that is "honesty." This virtue is more important in a funeral director than in a merchant, because in buying articles of everyday use people are able to judge value for themselves—but when they select a funeral service, they usually have to take the funeral director's word for it. The wise course is to learn something of funeral costs in advance of.

We suggest that you visit our public Advisory Department, or write for a copy of our instructive handbook, "Before Sorrow Comes."

CALLS FOR TOURISTS

Dobbs told his large audiences of the air the beauties of Victoria, of its homes and streets, and said there were many lakes here for swimming. He urged Americans to come and see for themselves and advised them to write to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau for its folder describing the tourist attractions of the city and Island.

Dobbs boasted the people of British Columbia. He said he had always heard the people here were cold and unenthusiastic, but his present audience was contradicting this by its great enthusiasm. He thought the people of the two countries should get closer together, and he asked those Americans listening in to write letters to their Canadian friends and also asked his own audience to sit down and write to their friends in the south as soon as they got near a writing desk.

Dobbs described in detail the beauties of Butchart's Gardens and of the courtesy and kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Moore and referred with evident pleasure to the fishing trip he took to Brentwood yesterday with a party, and made several humorous references to the fishing itself.

EXTENDS WELCOME

Premier Tolmie extended a welcome to the crew of the Ship of Joy and told them of the beauties of Victoria. The Premier was questioned by Dobbs as to the early days here and an interesting conversation ensued.

"I know the great part of this morning's entertainment is bringing to those who listen to the message of good cheer that is yours," said Mayor Leeming in welcoming Dobbs and his crew.

Public thanks was extended by Dobbs to secure 6 per cent on such a high-class investment. The small debentures of $100 and $500 continue to hold major interest, indicating that many people of moderate means are taking advantage of the investment opportunity offered by the company.

WHEN THE 1932-33 football season rolls around a new president will handle the affairs of the Lower Island Football Association, with a brand new policy to work on. In former years the L.I.F.A. board has been composed of neutral men. This year it is made up of officials from the various clubs—Vancouver, District, League, the four members of the board being actively associated with senior teams, while Joe Bloom, newly-elected president, is also connected with a club. Just how the new board will get along remains to be seen. Four of the senior clubs wanted a change with the fifth Saturday team and the Wednesday League in favor of retaining a neutral board.

Taiyos, second place occupants in the Twilight Baseball League, strengthened their position by scoring a 17 to 6 victory over the Rosebuds, last place holders, at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday evening. The Japanese nine is one game behind the league leading Eagles.

Nine errors on the part of the Buds assisted the Taiyos in their victory. The Nine collected 11 hits, home runs and Woods, including a home run inside the park by M. Ashikawa. The Buds were credited with eight hits, with Woods poling out a home run.

Taiyos scored eight runs in the first three innings and increased their lead in the game proposed.

Tonight evening the Indians and Rosebuds will meet at the park.

Second crew—Ken Bonner (s), Norman Loughhead (s), Bill Barrett (2), Dick Sewell (bow) and V. Rawlings (con).

Second crew—Tom Kotsay (s), Dave Baird (3), Alex Rawlings (2), R. H. Angus (bow) and Frank Mylrea (con).

Spares, Ron Morley and Jack Hamlet.

The girls' crews for the regatta have not yet been selected.

May Be Out of Meet

The regatta this season will be the first in five years in which Dan Moses and Ray Ditchburn will not be out to defend their senior doubles title. Moses was injured in the latter part of the backstroke season and will not be able to compete at all. He hopes, however, to get into the quarter mile and should be one of the best bets in the events if his ribs stay together under the strain of the sprint.

If he is unable to compete it will be the first time in two years that the Buds will not be one of the stars of the meet.

The course for the different crew races will start in Beaver Lake and finish in front of the Elk Lake Athletic Club's grounds. It will be the first time the N.P.A.A. has been held on Elk Lake. The course is reported to be excellent.

Unfortunately, people of this continued with the creation of a minority who play and love the game, seem to think cricket lacks the verve and pep of baseball. We are confident, however, that the Australian team will reveal some surprising new angles with which to outwit our opponents.

Wheat Prices Lift Following Feeble Winnipeg Opening

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 15.—Improvement in wheat quotations, which have shown strength in securities markets lifted wheat prices out of a bear rut here today. Substantial buying for Chicago and eastern interests lifted prices from a feeble opening to close 1 cent to 3/4 cent higher.

The close was steady: July one higher at 55; October 3/4 to 5 1/2 higher at 57 1/2, and December 1 higher at 58.

Export trade overnight and during the session was negligible.

Winnipeg followed Chicago in the march back to higher levels. The amount of trade, however, was relatively small. No explanation was available to the burst of buying strength for Chicago.

The market opened rather listlessly, firming up on strength at Chicago and gradually moved through to higher levels. Liverpool caught the spirit from Chicago. Opening 3/4 to 1/2 down, quotations moved up to close at 3/4 to 1/2 higher.

There was little of interest in the export field. Foreign buyers of wheat appeared to have adopted a stand-off policy.

Cash wheat and coarse grains experienced a lull in demand. Offerings continue light with spreads unchanged to fractionally higher.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, June 15.—Wheat: The wheat market was strong to-day, showing a decided reversal of trend to the past few days. Prices were 3/4 to 1/2 lower at the start, based on the early wheat crop, with the market generally extremely bearish, but then some local support present which was credited to pool interests. Later Chicago shot up about two points above the previous close and Winnipeg followed, scoring gains of 1 1/2 to 1 1/4, the July being the strong and acting tight.

The action in the wheat market was a complete surprise, as sentiment was all bearish at the close yesterday and at the opening this morning, while there was practically no export business worked overnight and nothing came in this morning. Local offerings were light, with most of the pit crowd holding on to the strength of Chicago shorts had some difficulty in covering without forcing prices higher. From Chicago came reports that the strength in stocks was a help to wheat and there was more show of confidence on the part of the eastern trade with the market acting tight.

The foundation for higher prices was laid by the recent U.S. government report, but due to economic conditions and unsettlement was not effective and the trade were largely of the opinion that the only chance for an advance would be setback to the spring wheat crop. However, price levels made something of a turn, naturally less risk in buying wheat at yesterday's closing range, particularly with other commodities like sugar and cotton showing a tendency to do better.

In the local cash market there was an extremely poor demand to-day for practically all grades and there was no particular pressure spreads made, and the market had probably become a little oversold the past few days. There has now been some rally logical.

The market scored a fair rally in sympathy with wheat. Trade rather moderate with some unchartered strength in wheat, rye would do much better.

SHIPPING, RAILWAY AND AVIATION NEWS

Has Served Railways Fifty-three Years

John Leslie, Vice-president and Treasurer of Canadian Pacific, to Retire

CADETS' CAMP AT RODD HILL

His Son Wins Promotion in General Change of Personnel in Montreal Offices

Montreal, June 15.—John Leslie, vice-president and treasurer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, after more than fifty-three years of service with the company and its subsidiaries, will retire from office under pension rules, according to announcement made here yesterday by E. W. Beatty, Mr. Leslie will be succeeded by E. E. Loyd, present comptroller of the company. L. B. Unwin, assistant comptroller, will be appointed deputy comptroller.

The directors and myself desire to record our appreciation of Mr. Leslie's long, loyal and efficient service. He has served in all capacities in the retirement. Mr. Leslie has given a life time to railway work in this country. He became a railroader as a boy of sixteen, when in March, 1877, he entered the service of the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway, as a junior clerk in its Toronto office. In December of 1877 he was promoted assistant cashier of the Grey and Bruce, and in 1881, after earning successive promotions until in July, 1882, he held the position of auditor and general accountant, going to the Ontario and Quebec Railway in 1883 as auditor.

August 1, 1884, found him serving the Canadian Pacific Railway as chief clerk in the accounting department at Montreal. In August, 1899, he was made auditor of disbursements and subsequently assistant comptroller in 1900.

His promotion to the comptrollership followed in October, 1914. In 1918 his ability and vast knowledge of railway financing was again recognized when he was placed in entire charge of the Canadian Pacific accounting department at its branch in Montreal. He became vice-president and comptroller of Montreal in January, 1926, and vice-president in charge of finance and treasurer on February 10, 1928.

Mr. Lloyd, who succeeds Mr. Leslie, commenced his railroad career with the company at Winnipeg in December, 1887, when he became a clerk in the store department. He became manager of the stores department at Winnipeg in August, 1898, and was subsequently chief clerk in this department at Vancouver and in Montreal, which latter post he took over in February, 1903. He became auditor of stores and mechanical accounts in December, 1904, and after holding different posts in that department became auditor of disbursements in January, 1918, assistant comptroller in February, 1921, and comptroller in February, 1928.

Mr. Unwin, who succeeds Mr. Lloyd, is another railroad man who has devoted his entire career to his chosen profession. Mr. Unwin was first a clerk in the office of the assistant superintendent at Chapleau, Ontario, in 1900.

He continued to serve in the Ontario district at Chapleau, Rainy River and Schreiber until the outbreak of the World War, when he enlisted in the Canadian Army. He was awarded the Military Cross, earned his major's stripes, being demobilized with that rank in April, 1919. He immediately took up his work with the Canadian Pacific, becoming an accountant at Sudbury. In June, 1920, he was appointed quantity statistician in the office of the general manager at Montreal. Chief of the joint facilities bureau and chief clerk to the comptroller. On July 2, 1926, he was made assistant auditor of miscellaneous accounts and on February 10, 1928, he was appointed assistant comptroller.

E. A. Leslie, who becomes deputy comptroller, is a son of John Leslie, and followed his distinguished father into the service of the company in 1912. In competition with hundreds of young men, he succeeded in winning a Canadian Pacific scholarship at McGill University, and became a student in 1916 with a Bachelor of Science degree. Mr. Leslie immediately enlisted with the Canadian Artillery and after serving in England and France, was demobilized in May, 1919, with the rank of Lieutenant.

KING TO VISIT BRITISH FLEET

London, June 15.—The King hopes to pay a visit to the home fleet during July.

This announcement will thrill the whole of that great division of the navy.

Ships of the home fleet are due to complete their cruise round the English coast on July 21, and it seems likely that the royal visit will take place immediately after this.

It is eight years since the King's last visit to the fleet, not counting the visit of the battleship Nelson and the Australian cruiser Canberra in 1928.

No doubt it will fly His Royal Standard, the erstwhile emblem of England's Lord High Admiral, on board the Nelson.

Sealing Claim Piles Up Interest in Vancouver and B.C. Government Seeks It

OLD SEIZURE IS RECALLED

Vancouver, June 15.—Recalling the seizure in August, 1898, in Bering Sea by the Russian cruiser Zabala of the sealing vessel "Victory," a writ of habeas corpus has been made in Supreme Court here on behalf of the province of British Columbia for $3,000, which has been accumulating interest in the bank during the last twenty-three years for sailors and shareholders.

On behalf of the government, Canada, the owners Vancouver Shipbuilding and Trading Co. Limited, claimed compensation for illegal seizure and was awarded $46,480. The money was disbursed among the crew and shareholders and the company went out of business in 1900 and a balance of $1,794 was deposited in the Bank of Montreal for three sailors and shareholders, who had omitted to file claims. The sailors were R. N. Tennyson, $151; J. Sharpe, $299, and M. T. Price, $81. The fund, with interest, now amounts to $5,000, and nobody appearing to claim the money for twenty-three years, the court is asked to find that it should be awarded as "money vacanta," under the Escheats Act, to His Majesty the King, in the right of the province.

On Saturday the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Asia will spend an hour here on her way from Vancouver to ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands.

Princess Norah and Princess Maquinna to Take Many Passengers During Summer

With the advent of good weather the tourist season to the west coast of Vancouver Island has started and the two sailings of the Princess Maquinna already this month have had good lists of passengers from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and neighboring points. The boat will sail again next Tuesday evening.

During July and August there will be a total of twelve round trips between Victoria and Port Alice.

Princess Norah will assist the Princess Maquinna in this service. While the coming season is not expected to be quite as good as that of last year, a large number of regulars have been engaged.

Places to be visited by the Maquinna this season include Cartwright, from where mail will be sent to Frenchman's Island, Davis Inlet, Makivik, Hope, Riddle, Nain and Hebron; Fort Burwell, for Fort McNeil, Fort McNeil, Georges River, White Rock, B.C., Port Renfrew, Clayoquot, Ahousat, Matilda Creek, Hequalit, Nootka, Queen's Cove, Kyuquot, Quatsino and Port Alice. At all these places stops of a few hours will be given to permit the passengers to go ashore and see the cannery and fish reduction plants, the lumber mills and quaint Indian villages.

PREFERS NATIONAL COUNCILS

Hall last week during the National Council meeting. Another thing: religion and politics don't mix and that, sir, is one of the reasons why I prefer the National Councils.

J. SPRING,
R.M.D. No. 2, June 14, 1932.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENT

To the Editor: — I notice the City Council seem to be casting their eyes round for useful public works on which to put the unemployed.

May I call your attention to the outer end of Hillside Avenue, near Shelburne Street, which is dangerously narrow for the increasing traffic that goes down and has no sidewalk. Could not the open ditch on the north side, which is only about fifteen feet of the roadway, be replaced by a culvert and filled over and at least half a sidewalk be built to encourage children to keep off the roadway?

A great deal of the Uplands traffic goes out that way, generally at high speed, and some day pedestrians will get knocked off the roadway.

HILLSIDE,
Victoria, B.C., June 13, 1932.

INJUSTICE

To the Editor: — Although my vocabulary is not quite equal to Noah Webster's unabridged dictionary, I generally find the right words with which to express my thoughts. Still it would help the said vocabulary greatly if you were willing to give me the proper term to express a constant and insidious annoyance to other teachers besides myself, with the injustice meted out to the private teacher by the many public and private schools in town. In the lower social circles and one who calmly appropriates something belonging to someone else is called a thief, a bandit, an evil-doer. In short, who would dare to apply such unattractive titles to the scholastic majesty of Victoria's upper circles?

From my point of view there is absolutely no difference between the person who takes my time for their own purposes and the person, let us say, who takes my time—piece—for their own purposes. I need both my time and my time-piece in earning a living and yet the teachers and the pupils they cannot take their lesson as they need the time for their own work. The time, however, does not belong to the schools, but to the poor outside teacher. By all means let the schools spend all the time they want in the scientific pursuit of knocking

Parents See Baby Son Whose Appendix Was Removed Within An Hour After Birth

While the medical profession marveled, the appendix of the three-pound baby son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bryan of Brooklyn, N.Y., was removed within an hour after the child's birth. And here, more than a week later, the happy parents are shown (right) as Dr. C. Gutierrez, one of the surgeons who performed the operation, shows them their little son—one pound heavier and apparently on his way to health. It was the first time on record that a baby had lived more than two days after such an operation.

FELLOWSHIP AT ROTARY DINNER

Lieut.-Governor, Premier and Mayor Extend Greetings to Visiting Rotarians

Tribute Paid By Speakers to Rotary Aims; Three Hundred Attended Banquet

The spirit of Rotary predominated at the Fellowship Dinner held at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening when approximately three hundred delegates and guests assembled at the banquet table. Seated at the head table with Sydney W. Pascall, president of Rotary International; Mrs. Pascall, Sir Charles and Lady Mander, and other leading governors, were Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor, and Mrs. Fordham Johnson, Premier Tolmie, Mrs. Leonard R. Andrews, members of the provincial cabinet and Mayor and Mrs. Leeming.

George McGregor, newly-installed president, and other members of the Victoria Rotary Club and their wives were among the guests.

ROTARY LOGOIZED

In extending a welcome to the visitors on behalf of British Columbia, and speaking for the people of Canada generally, Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson eulogized the good fellowship engendered within the membership of Rotary clubs, and commended the work of the organization towards the promotion of world peace.

He spoke of the cosmopolitan character of the gathering and expressed the hope that the main convention of Rotary International might be held in Victoria.

Tolmie, speaking for the Provincial Government, welcomed the Rotarians and expressed the earnest hope that the spirit of service would continue to dominate the affairs of the clubs as in the past. The Premier remarked that he was greatly impressed by the complete harmony that pervaded the ranks of the Rotary organization.

Major Leeming illustrated the example that was set by Rotarians in fostering among the people of the world a spirit of love to all mankind. He lauded Rotarians in lending itself to public service.

The Mayor mentioned that two of the city aldermen and one of the members of the Legislature were members of the Victoria Rotary Club.

that with increased powers of production and limited consumption of said products, this miserable stalemate will continue.

The system will work, in its halting fashion, I can conceive of no method of improving it, so long as it remains based on the exploitation of the working class.

And, further, I cannot see how the end of exploitation can be brought about until the exploited ones themselves understand their position.

They do know that all efforts to persuade you working class readers that this system is not so bad, if given a chance, are pernicious to the extreme.

They are made either in sheer ignorance of economics or else in flagrant absence of intellectual honesty.

There exists no impediment whatever now in the productive field of a full free life for every citizen of Canada.

But we will never attain to that happy condition while the workers are deluded into believing that a system based on their exploitation is the only possible system. I accuse your column of fostering that delusion.

That is all there is to the crisis. The plethora of wealth cannot profitably disposed of while labor power remains a commodity on the labor market. Because there is a surplus of said labor, and when surplus goods of any kind glut the market, the price of that labor goes down as wages inevitably comes down. Hence, increased purchasing power made still worse by the frantic efforts of every buyer of labor power to economize, and always at the expense of the wretched under paid.

No conference will mend this matter, no tinkering with either currency, or tariff, or appeals to the heart of poor old human nature. Men follow the road of least resistance, and will do so to the bitter end, whatever that may chance to be.

All we can be reasonably sure of is, that if he means by "we," the owners of machinery plus the resources of said products, he is entirely wrong.

They have succeeded in "getting something for nothing." Men will do what they will do, and will continue to do, unless the machine tenders and engineering directors wake up to the fact that this "something" is derived from that.

And, further, I cannot see how the end of exploitation can be brought about until the exploited ones themselves understand their position.
